Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month

Look Twice. Save a Life.

Motorcycles make up a small percentage of vehicles on the road, but riders are dramatically overrepresented in serious and fatal crashes. At Bowen Painter Trial Lawyers, we've seen firsthand how devastating these accidents can be—and we're committed to standing up for injured riders and their families.

Too often, drivers claim they "didn't see the motorcycle." That excuse doesn't hold up. All motorists have a duty to stay alert, check blind spots, and give motorcyclists the space they need to ride safely.

Legal Tip: What to do after a motorcycle accident

- Call 911, even if you feel “fine.”
- Take photos of your injuries, the bike, and the scene.
- Get contact info from witnesses.
- Avoid making statements to insurance without a lawyer.
- Call Bowen Painter for a free consultation.

Community Spotlight: Serving Up Support at the Savannah Challenger

We recently had the privilege of sponsoring the Savannah Challenger, a professional tennis tournament and French Open qualifier hosted right here in our hometown. It was an incredible week of high-level competition and community engagement. At Bowen Painter, we're proud to support events that bring people together and spotlight the talent and grit that make Savannah so special.

New Podcast Episode

Inside the Process: What Lawyers Look for in a Juror

In this episode of Justice for Y'all, the Bowen Painter team breaks down how jury selection—also known as voir dire—really works. Paul, Andrew, and Stephen walk through what trial lawyers look for in jurors, how they identify bias, and why this early courtroom phase is critical to every case. They also discuss the difference between federal and state voir dire, how tech helps track jurors, and why striking the right jury can make or break a trial.
